DEADLOCK TIGHTENS: BRYAN URGES COMPROMISE

150,000 ELKS PLAN TRIBUTE TO WAR HEROES

First Grand Lodge Session Today.

With the official opening of the grand lodge session at 10 o'clock this morning in the Auditorium theater the 150,000 visiting members of the B. P. O. E. will settle down to the serious business of the convention.

There are four serious questions before the delegates and visitors. One is the selection of a new grand ruler. Another is the picking of the convention city for next year. A good time must be had by all that is the third serious consideration. The fourth is the honoring of the 70,000 Elks who served their country in the world war.

Let George Do It.

All other questions are dry and routine. Of course, the figures for the last fiscal year must be gone over. "George" will do that. "Plans for new members and new clubhouses will be made, and 'little old George' will attend to that."

William Martin Abbott of San Francisco is to be the next grand exalted ruler.

San Francisco has been selected for the next convention city. Those two questions are decided by the ever wise "higher ups," who never pick a loser. Every one is always satisfied with their choice. All that remains is the formality of the voting. So that clears up those two questions.

Remaining are the honoring of the service men and enjoying the sights of Chicago.

70,000 Served Nation.

Out of the entire membership of the Elks the nation drew 70,000 soldiers, sailors and marines. It is for them alone that the gigantic parade will be staged. If the plans of the official Elks of Chicago will see a greater celebration than ever before. The parade is expected to extend over fifteen miles. One hundred bands will march. Marching clubs from 1,000 lodges will strut past the reviewing stand. Two hundred floats will dazzle the spectators. Approximately 25,000 of the 70,000 who served will be in the parade. After the procession has wound through the loop memorial services will be held in the Auditorium.

150,000 Visitors Here.

There is left the business of having a good time. Last night the officials estimated that 150,000 men had signed the register. By this evening they have 200,000. "Bills" will be looping the loop. The 150,000 so cracked the usual even tenor of a Chicago Sunday yesterday that the residents wondered if it was looping the loop.

Horse Throws Rider.

When Feghorn "Clancy" announced that Jack Brown of Luck, Wyo., would attempt to ride "Cyclone," the only horse in America that has never been ridden, the spectators nearly tore up the stands. Their shouts were suddenly hushed when Brown was whirled from the horse after three seconds of spinning, and sent to the land of noddy by the fall. The horse jumped on the fallen rider. An ambulance carried the man from the field.

When Brown was thrown from his horse he was thrown from his horse.

Death Threat to Len Small Asks $40,000

A fugitive from justice—a hunted murderer, the police say—and a wealthy young farmer of Moline, Ill., are under arrest charged with attempting to extort $40,000 from Len Small, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. Threats of killing Mr. Small and his family were contained in a letter which now is in the hands of the police.

The farmer, Newcomb Palmer, is being held at detention home No. 1 in Chicago. The other man, charged with attempting to extort $40,000 from Len Small, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, is being held at detention home No. 1 in Chicago. The other man, charged with attempting to extort $40,000 from Len Small, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, is being held at detention home No. 1 in Chicago.

Palmer Tells of Plot.

"My aunt and my sisters had gone out one day, and I was alone with Caudell," said Palmer in his confession. "He told me he had a scheme to get $40,000. We would write a letter to Len Small, ask him for it, threaten to wipe out his family, and he would give us the money. I didn't want to do it at first, but he made it seem so easy that I consented, and we mailed the letter to Small at his bank in Kankakee."

Caudell had worked on the farm since April. I used to get his mail for him and post his letters. He said he had a reason for not doing this work himself. The letter instructed Small to drop the money at a place on the Kankakee-Moline road where he would see an American flag. He paid no attention to it until Williams Allers, a farmer of Manteno, came to see it. He had heard of the letter, he said, and he believed Caudell had sent it.

Farmer Gives Warning.

Moreover, Allers believed Caudell had stolen his automobile. Deputy Sheriff Max Welch was notified. He remembered two license plates had been stolen from another auto. He believed possibly Caudell had taken them to camouflage the stolen car. He sent out notices to various towns.

Small was to leave the money at a designated spot in the Kankakee-Moline road Friday night. A decoy package was made up. Sgt. John Norton of the Chicago homicide squad and seven detectives patrolled the road. The package was left, but nothing happened. No flag was seen.

W. G. Voliva Is Sarcastic as Mrs. Dowie Returns

Mrs. Jane Dowie, widow of John Alexander Dowie, came back from Los Angeles yesterday to claim Zion City. Speaking at the Grace Missionary church, an independent Zionist institution in opposition to the rule of William Glenn Voliva, the overseer, she declared she "was ready to take up the burden she had shared with her husband during his life." This was taken to be a deft for Voliva who decried Mrs. Dowie as an official of the church following Dowie's death. Voliva's comment was sarcastic.

"When the devil wants to do some dirty work, he chooses a woman to work through," he said. "I hate to fight a woman. It's like hitting a snail with a chair."

THE RESTLESS AGE

When Emily Harbridge had read Tom's letter for the third time she turned off the light and for a long time sat looking out on the moonlight. She was unhappy. Not a word of real affection in the letter—only the old friendly phrases, now so pitifully unsatisfying.

Did it mean that he cared for her only as a dear friend? Or did it mean that some time when he got good and ready he would come and say the words she wanted so much to hear? This reflection stirred her to resentment.

In this mood she wrote her answer. The big clock downstairs struck 11 before she finished, and when she read the letter over she burst into tears, and tore it into little bits.

Next morning she drove into Grangefield. Here were the comfortable homes of retired farmers, whose land was being worked—and often worked to death—by tenants intent only upon draining the land of its utmost without thought of conserving its lasting richness.

In the main street were the usual numbers of farmers' autos, parked along the curbs. In other days the hitching racks around the public square were thronged only on Saturdays.

Emily thought of these things as she drove along, but always in the background of her mind hung the dull heaviness of a cloud which even the bright sunlight could not dispel. The name of Sadie Johnson kept intruding upon her consciousness. She was annoyed chiefly by the fact that she cared enough to feel hurt.

Her mood was ripe for reprisals. The patient Emily was becoming a rebellious Emily. It was not by accident that she parked her car next to Bud Andrews' car or turned, with apparent surprise and marked cordiality, to greet that young man as he hurried out of a store towards her.

"Hello, Emily. I was just thinking of you. What brings you to town?"

"O, a lot of things." She was smiling gayly, and Bud's active mind was already busy with searching deductions.

She had never been so cordial to him before. What was up? He wanted to ask if she had heard from Tom, but caution prompted him to approach the subject less directly.

"Is there anything in this great city that I can do for you?" He swept his arms in a wide gesture that included the Grangefield Moving Picture Palace, Berry's ice cream parlor, the Carnegie library, and the length of the somnolent main street. "Theaters, restaurants, literature, anything you want. I await your pleasure."

He waited in an attitude of such deference that two elderly ladies passing regarded him with surprise, and proceeded with a new interest in their lives.

"Ah ha! I have it!" he exclaimed. "I've saved you some money, and I propose we go and purchase a pair of the nicest ice cream sodas that money can buy."

"This is so sudden," she smiled; "but I most certainly accept."

The phrasing of this remark, pleasantly suggestive of romantic possibilities, stimulated Bud to hopeful expectations.

As they sat at one of the little tables in Berry's the conversation ranged along airy topics as it always had, and Emily approached the matter uppermost in both their minds.

"By the way," said Bud casually, "any news from our wandering friend?"

"Who?" asked Emily. "O, you mean Tom Wickham? Yes, I had a letter not long ago. Some evening, if you happen to be over our way, remind me, and I'll read it to you." She resumed eating the ice cream as though unaware of the significance of her remark.

"I'm happening to come over that way tonight," he said quickly, while through his thoughts shot the joyful reflection that Tom's letters contained nothing that could not be read to others.

One of Our Children's 3d Birthday

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.
Director of The Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.
[By Special Cable.]

PARIS, July 4.—The European edition of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE today is three years' old.

Founded in Paris in the confusion of war on July 4, 1917, its first number, dispatched by special messenger to insure its timely arrival, was distributed among the first American troops to arrive in France, then encamped on the outskirts of Saint Nazaire.

Today, sturdily surviving the rigors of war, of censorship, of peace, and of general strikes, it takes pride in its circulation achievements of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and of the New York Times, and at the same time wishes to register its contribution to the success of the triumvirate of TRIBUNE publications.

Although no public circulation audit is available, the European edition is prepared to defend its claim to be the largest American circulation of any newspaper in Europe.

The additions to its mail subscription list received in June tripled the record of any previous month.

The month just closed showed an advertising gain of 147 per cent since Jan. 1, 1920, as against 97 per cent for the Paris Herald, and 41 per cent for the Continental Daily Mail.

The European edition celebrated its third anniversary with a twenty-eight page paper containing signed articles by Premier Millerand, former Premier Clemenceau, Leon Bourgeois, president of the senate and president of the committee on the league of nations; Gen. Sarraill, Gen. De Castelnau, United States Ambassador Hugh Wallace, William Phillips, Charles Vopicka, Pierre Veber, Gen. Allen, H. A. L. Fisher, British minister of education, and many others, in addition to THE TRIBUNE's staff of correspondents.

M'ADOO'S FOES SPURN DEAL TO PUT HIM OVER

Eyes Open for Wilson Stampede.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.
San Francisco, Cal., July 4.—[Special.]—McAdoo managers made their last appeal for support tonight to the Murphy-Brennan-Taggart combination. The plea was refused, and so confident are the anti-McAdoo triumvirate of success that without batting an eye they told the McAdoo spokesmen they might draft the former secretary of the treasury for the vice-presidency. The ticket would then be Cox and McAdoo.

Should he spurn second place Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, now assistant secretary of the navy, will be drafted, they declared.

The combination against McAdoo enters the convention tomorrow morning all set to drive through with Cox. This expectation is based substantially upon the belief that Kansas will break away from McAdoo and that California also can be bribed loose from McAdoo. These two latter switches are considered certainities if an attempted delivery of the McAdoo votes to Attorney General Palmer is started.

Await Word from Tumulty.

At a late hour tonight the indications were many that Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the president, had fallen down on his assignment. It is up to Mr. Tumulty, according to the New York-Indiana-Indiana combination, to deliver to its leaders some message of cheer and confidence directly from the top, whereby an arrangement can be quickly reached to nominate some candidate other than McAdoo.

Pending arrival of some word from the president, the anti-McAdoo combination is waiting for the word to "dug in for the summer," as one of the three chiefs said.

Fear Entry of President.

Absence of direct information—there is no administration leader in San Francisco with whom the combination will deal on the big stuff—has been responsible for a visible degree of apprehension within the camp of the anti-McAdoo delegations that the president's name would be presented at the psychological time tomorrow as the easiest way of smashing the deadlock.

President Wilson's name as a possible candidate to break the deadlock began to be heard in the hotel lobbies beginning shortly after 9 o'clock tonight. There was no evidence that the Wilson report had originated in official sources, but the rapidly increasing strength of the rumor tended to give it some degree of significance.

Bolster the "Anti" Wall.

Therefore plans were being prepared today to bolster the same stone wall against any third term project that has stood effectively against the McAdoo candidacy. Murphy and Brennan are implacable in this respect. They will fight to the last against any move to renominate the president.

Taggart is in a somewhat different position. He is Democratic nominee for senator in Indiana and Vice President Marshall and a host of Democratic federal appointees in Indiana are strong for anything that the president does or may do.

To Start in Where They Left Off.

The decision of the Murphy-Brennan-Taggart combination, reached at 9 o'clock tonight, is to enter the convention tomorrow morning on the basis that existed when the convention adjourned last night. This would mean, if the combination has its way, that the morning ballots will not differ materially from the twenty-second. If the deadlock sticks, the plan is to have a recess, probably about 1 o'clock, for three hours, during which the endeavor will be made to reach an agreement on a candidate.

The first representative conference of the day started about 4 o'clock this afternoon in Mr. Murphy's quarters.

Not So Friendly to Palmer.

The leaders had the word that Kentucky was getting somewhat wobbly as to Cox and might go over to anybody who showed a chance to break the deadlock. This bad news was copied immediately by word that a majority of the delegates were all set to defeat McAdoo and join the Cox lineup.

20 BURIED WHEN DUGOUTS CAVE IN

Mexico City, July 4.—About twenty persons were buried alive when dugouts at San Pedro de Los Pinos, near here, caved in last night. Up to 1 o'clock this morning ten bodies had been recovered. The victims were members of the Third cavalry regiment and their families.

Killed by Golf Ball Driven 200 Yards Away

Utica, N. Y., July 4.—Joseph Casey, 12 years old, was instantly killed this afternoon on the links of a local golf club when he was struck by a golf ball driven from a point 200 yards away by Frank C. Shippey of Utica. The boy was a caddy at the club.

San Shines on Dad's Farm

Boston, Mass., July 4.—Gov. Coolidge will spend part of his vacation helping his father gather the annual hay crop. The governor left Boston yesterday for his boyhood home, Plymouth, Vt. He was accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and their two sons.

Time Ripe to Pick Winner—Commoner

San Francisco, Cal., July 4.—William J. Bryan said tonight that he considered it expedient for the convention to go outside of the list of candidates already before it for a nominee, and that he would suggest a number of men.

The Commoner announced the names of nine men he believed available, as follows:

JUSTICE LOUIS D. BRANDEIS of the United States Supreme court.
JOSEPH W. FOLE, ex-governor of Missouri.
THOMAS CAMPBELL, ex-governor of Texas.

GOV. BROUGH of Arkansas.
MARTIN GLYNN, ex-governor of New York.
SENATOR DAVID WALSH of Massachusetts.
EX-JUDGE SAMUEL SEABURY of New York.
SAMUEL UNDERMYER of New York.
EX-SENATOR SHAFER of Colorado.

Friendly to Three Others.

Previously Bryan had indicated that he would not oppose James W. Gerard, Senator Robert Owen of Oklahoma, or Edwin T. Meredith, secretary of agriculture.

So he seems to be behind any of a dozen men and against everybody else. "It is hardly fair for the friends of the prominent candidates to assume that the Democratic party is insolvent," Mr. Bryan said. "My list of names include men from the south. I always have insisted that the sectional objection, like the so-called sectional advantage, is very largely overestimated."

"While I believe in the eleventh hour entry into the vineyard, provided a man proves himself to be a convert to progressiveness, I think that the credentials of such an aspirant ought to be carefully examined, whether he now comes into the party or into the field of reform."

Mr. Bryan reiterated to all, however, that he was making no effort to organize a fight either for or against any one.

After Most Available Man.

"I don't object to telling the good points, whether fourteen or less, of any candidate," Mr. Bryan said, "but I refuse to share the responsibility for a man whom I consider unavailable. I am not responsible for anything except my vote or influence, and that will not be used for any one who, in my judgment, would be less than the most available man I know among those who are candidates."

That the Nebraska man is doing all that he can to beat Cox and will be busy in the convention tomorrow against any body in whom he suspects even the slightest sympathy with a liberalization of the prohibition laws, goes without saying.

Robbers Gag Mrs. C. E. Moller; Take $12,000 Gems

San Francisco, July 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. C. E. Moller, wealthy New York guest at the Fairmont hotel, was robbed tonight by a masked robber who escaped with eight diamond rings valued at $12,000 after first having gagged the victim and bound her in a chair. Mr. Moller is attending the Democratic national convention here as the guest of Mrs. Hyman, wife of Mayor Hyman of New York.

No Compromise in Sight.

None of the factions tonight had reached the stage of willingness to sit down with another and compromise on a candidate. None is ready to concede that it is time for dark horses.

That time should be reached tomorrow or later the contending groups dividing control of the convention will find themselves pretty far apart on the question of dark horses.

The administration following discloses a marked preference for Ambassador John W. Davis, while the allied anti-administration and wet forces are partial to either Secretary of State Coby or Vice President Marshall.

National Chairman Homer Cummings is popular in both camps, and his friends think he has an excellent chance if the nomination goes to a dark horse.

T. M. Taggart said a dark horse move for Vice President Marshall is premature.

All Demand More Ballots.

The negotiations of the leaders today had not proceeded far before it was apparent that no negotiations worth the name could be effected until further balloting.

The backers of each candidate were contending that he had not had a fair chance to develop full strength, and were demanding a further run in the convention tomorrow. That they will get it before the break to a winner develops is now the prospect.

"McAdoo is the only candidate whose strength withstood the hammering yesterday at all stages," said former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Thomas B. Love. "We are ready to ballot till doomsday, and the convention will be a long one."

SERIOUS MOOD SUCCEEDS MAD DAY'S BALLOTING

Delegates React to Cautious Reflections.

BY EYE WITNESS.
San Francisco, Cal., July 4.—(Special.)—The Sunday morning calm after a hard week and everybody almost everybody—clothed, and in his right mind, and as sober as Mr. Bryan. Scores of the lads went to mass this morning.

The bromo seltzer market is sluggish. The hot towel is not in demand. The hang-over is sporadic, not epidemic. There never was a Democratic convention interlude like it before.

No Such Strain in Years.
Emphatically this is not because there was not strain and uncertainty enough in last night's exercises to send statesmen flying to the bottle. There was. All agree that not in years of convention was this, and was crying out there been anything to surpass it.

Who shall adequately picture the big noise?
Who shall visualize the vigor of the game in its tensest moment?

The words for it all are used up and worn out, and yet the spectacle, familiar as it is and endlessly written about as it has been, remains one that is worth putting on paper. It is the spectacle of a thousand accredited representatives engaged in a Homeric kind of horseplay while they rough out the future for millions of their party followers.

Saved by Its Spaciousness.
It is the spaciousness of the spectacle that saves it from contempt. Horseplay by a couple thousand delegates and alienates and with nearly 10,000 looking on, and in so far as they are, joining in, will provide a sumptuous thrill and create in the most detached witness an irresistible if somewhat shamed joy. It may not be the best way to choose your potential kingman, but it is our way, and despite Thomas Carlyle, the republic survives it.

What saves the system from utter grotesqueness and the state from shipwreck is the astounding capacity for instant readjustment by the men who make the system function.

Patients for Dr. Hickson.
Votes mount, veer, sink, are feverishly traded, and compromises are frantically broached and rejected amidst surges of tumid nonsense that would make Bedlam seltzer for the world outside its walls.

You see the standard of Hawaii lurching toward the platform in the hands of an islander with a festal pink wreath around his black fezz. He is the sworn ally—for the moment—of a howling Coxite from Ohio with green feathers in his derby and the tossing Ohio standard in his hands. Both men make sufficiently ridiculous figures in the present mood of yowl to warrant their detention in a psychiatric ward were they outside of a national convention hall.

Yet there is a majestic message even in them. The mere fact of their proximity in this crazy house is eloquent. For there they are—the man of the Buckeyes and the man with the festal wreath of a remote and vanishing race around his black fedora.

Comments an Empire.
It visualizes itself thus—this vivid and far flung geography, I mean—this again. The Central Zone distributes its two votes that on the sixteenth ballot the eighteen Massachusetts men who are for McAdoo give it, and the forty-eight Pennsylvanians who are sticking to Palmer hobnob with it.

Amid rough house you see an empire cemented with that nonpareil cement of party interest and self-interest. It is wonderful. There is not another empire which works this way. In London they bring them together from India and from beyond the seas, and decorously drink tea with them in Downing street. Here we bring them from the isthmus to our hemisphere and from the islands of the Caribbean to the Pacific and play horse with them, and they like it and say "We, too, are children of the republic."

And Then the Reaction.
Ten thousand look on at this troil of common forebodings and dependencies in wide eyed expectancy of the kingman's name coming out of it all.

It does not.
At the droning cry, "The eyes seem to have it, the eyes have it, and the convention is adjourned." And at the deflating smack of the gavel which puts a period to the drone all these maniacs recruited from Congress and Capitol, gather up their rattles and toy balloons, wave good night to the band, and go quietly home to bed. In a thrice they have reacted with the common sense and the commonsensibility. They have become as tractable as children.

The eyes did seem to have it and the chairman knew they did not when he said it.
But it was time to go to bed—and to bed he sent them. They went without a murmur.

Now, let me give you a hint of the contrast which the Sabbath quiet and sobriety have created. Like the lunatic in the Bible, I repeat, these lunatics of last night are clothed and in their right minds now.

In the most methodical and matter of fact way they are going about looking for a potential kingman, without any divorces in his family, and their political state of mind is compounded of just three very obvious and wholly understandable impulses and reactions of the ordinary human mind. It is not difficult to individualize these impulses and reactions which govern this Lord's day groping for the potential kingman. They know that the delegates as a party body is a reflection of the mental state of three men. It is compounded of Mr. Palmer's somnolence, of Mr. McAdoo's vacillation—or reported vacillation—and of Gov. Cox's desperate anxiety to find 260 votes somewhere, somehow.

Obvious State of Mind.
There is nothing intricate about this state of mind. It is as obvious as the state of mind of men out to win always. It is founded on a grouchy; on an uncertainty, and on an anxiety; but governing it and making it operate in a purposeful way, is the fourth factor and that factor is caution. For all their desperate anxiety and their anxious desperation, the Coxites cannot overcome it.

There is not a veteran politician in either party that does not retain a lively remembrance of the lesson which the foul campaign of 1884 taught party men. The bitterest of the lesson was that a story of broken or of irregular domestic relations, though it would not, if all the story were told, disgrace the candidate, can in the welter of a campaign be so twisted and turned and distorted that it can ruin that candidate and pillory him as a notorious libertine and profligate before thousands of persons, some of them gullible and some of them unco guid and all of them voters.

Don't Want 1884 Repeated.
They know that what Bryce said about our passionate solicitude to have everything regular in the domestic record of our presidential candidates is the solemn truth, and what he said was: "Nothing damages a man more than a reputation for irregularity in these relations."

The Democratic politicians seeking their kingman here have no stomach for a repetition of what Andrew D. White called "the vilest political campaign ever waged."

They have not forgotten the story of George William Curtis' aghast face when he came into the Lotus club in New York and said: "Have you seen the Buffalo paper?" The slanders about their kingman then nearly cost them victory, and would have cost them victory if, as Blaine said, the Lord had not sent an ass in the guise of a preacher to undo the Republicans.

Factor in Women's Vote.
An anecdote singularly sensitive to a candidate's relations with his women folk, and singularly censorious about any trouble he may have had in that quarter, must be considered. And that goes double now that the electrolyte comprises women. They were an important factor in the election of 1916.

Fair Skippers in Jackson Park Yacht Race

MISS CARMICHAEL ALFORD.

MRS. ROBERT WILLIAMSON.

MISS VERONICA HEDDERMAN.
RUTH HARRINGTON.

MISS MAY BRANDON.

Nine Entries

MISS MAY BRANDON in the sloop Jackson Park II, captured the four mile Brand trophy race for women sailors, held by the Jackson Park Yacht club, yesterday. Her time was 52:10. There were eight other entries.

The lake was choppy and the wind light, rendering the boats difficult to manage. Four posted the starting buoy before the gun was fired. Miss Brandon returned for a second start.

Miss Carmichael Alford, in the twenty-one foot sloop Spray, suffered a like misfortune, which, although she was first to finish, resulted in disqualification and prevented her from winning the first race she had ever entered. Mrs. Robert Williamson, at the helm of Edith II, and Mrs. Edward Baker in Gray Jacket also were ruled out.

Second place went to Mrs. J. P. Corcoran, pilot of one of the club's new "Q" boats, the Virginia. Her time was 53:40. Mildred II, with Miss Oliver Rumble as pilot, was third, and Frannie, sailed by Miss Ruth Harrington, took fourth place.

It would make Mr. Palmer sick indeed. Already he is feeling far from well.

Feeling Their Way.
Thus, amid the vacillation of one, the desperate anxiety of another, the grouchy of a third, and the caution for family virtue which envelops all, the delegates today are groping. They don't know what to do just yet and there is nobody in a position to give them orders. There is nothing intricate, nothing secret in the situation. It is a situation that provides interesting proof of the words of one of the wisest of them on the scene, which were:

"Politicians are the humanest of human beings. They always do the obvious thing in the obvious way."

They are doing it today by doing so sensible a thing as just feeling their way.

It would make Mr. Palmer sick indeed. Already he is feeling far from well.

Feeling Their Way.
Thus, amid the vacillation of one, the desperate anxiety of another, the grouchy of a third, and the caution for family virtue which envelops all, the delegates today are groping. They don't know what to do just yet and there is nobody in a position to give them orders. There is nothing intricate, nothing secret in the situation. It is a situation that provides interesting proof of the words of one of the wisest of them on the scene, which were:

COL. F. L. SMITH JUMPS INTO RACE FOR U. S. SENATOR

Dwight Entry Expected to Have City Hall Help.

Col. Frank L. Smith of Dwight, Ill., chairman of the Republican state committee, and representative in congress from the Seventeenth district, yesterday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

Fourth Candidate in Race.
He is the fourth candidate formally to enter the senatorial race, the others, being Congressman William B. McKinley, former Speaker Edward D. Shurtleff, and Col. B. M. Chipfield. Col. Smith is expected to have the backing of the local city hall forces, in return for which he is counted upon to recognize the Thompson county committee, which the Supreme court declared illegally elected, the de facto Republican organization in Cook county. His position as chairman of both the old and the new Republican state committees gives him this power.

Col. Smith's announcement contains a plea for a "harmonized and united" Republican party. It also states his position to the league of nations in language which is expected to be satisfactory to his city hall backers.

Expected to Hasten Union.
Col. Smith's announcement of his candidacy will, it is predicted, give impetus to the efforts of the leaders of the Lowden-Denness-Brundage forces to unite upon a single candidate for United States senator to defeat the city hall entry.

The question of the selection of such a candidate is now in the hands of a subcommittee appointed at the conference at Springfield, at which Gov. Lowden announced he would not be a candidate for reelection.

BATTLE LINES OF G. O. P. TO BE LAID HERE THIS WEEK

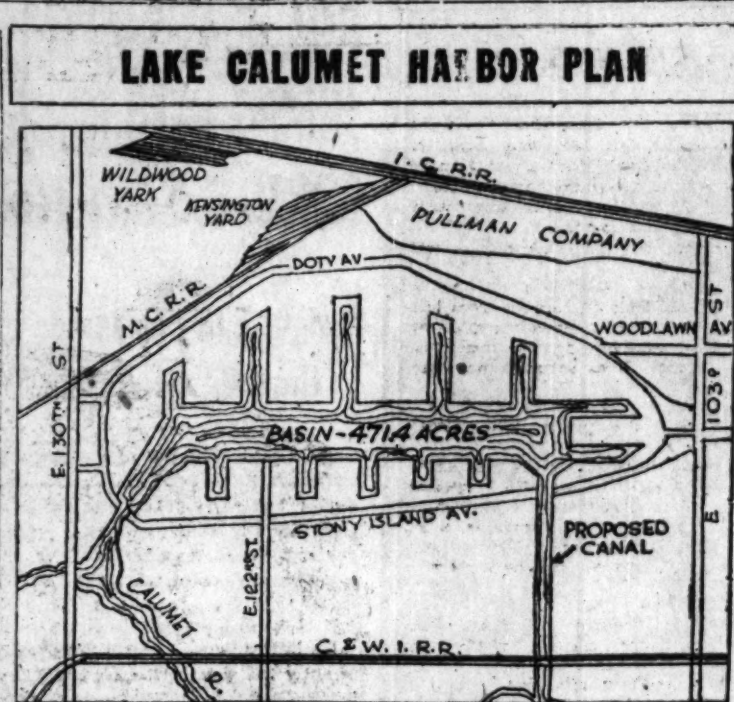

Political activities of many kinds will center in Chicago during the last five days of the present week and are expected to do much toward establishing the lines along which the 1920 national campaign will be fought. They will begin immediately after the adjournment of the Democratic national convention, and before the end of the week it will probably be definitely known whether the 1920 campaign will be along party lines, or whether defections from one or both parties are to be expected.

The political activity begins tomorrow, when Chairman Will H. Hays and a score of the members of the Republican national committee and the Harding campaign managers reach the city for a series of conferences in the Auditorium hotel headquarters. They will come to the city directly from Marion, O., where the Harding homecoming reception today is the magnet which is attracting thousands of Republican voters.

Conferences May Be Delayed.

The Republican managers had expected that when they met the Democratic national convention would have completed its work. Failure of the San Francisco gathering to do this may result in delaying the conferences, but the Republicans expect that the convention will end today.

The nature of the campaign to be made by the Republicans depends largely upon who is the Democratic nominee. Earlier in the week the Republicans had indicated that they expected the nomination of McAdoo, and had prepared for an aggressive campaign, one in which Wilson and the

A MEETING of the city council committee on harbors is expected to be called for this week by Ald. Ross Woodhill, chairman, for action on the report of Arend Van Vliet, city harbor expert, in which he submits plans for a giant harbor for Lake Calumet which would make Chicago the shipping hub of the world.

The accompanying illustration shows Lake Calumet transformed into an inland harbor large enough to accommodate vessels of all sizes from all parts of the world. The plan provides for a basin having a width of 1,600 feet and a length of 18,000 feet. With connecting channels, it embraces an area of 473 acres. The entire cost of the project is estimated at $4,000,000.

"crown prince" would be assented and the Wilson policies and failures brought under fire.

Selection of some other candidate may change this plan.

On Wednesday the convention of the committee of forty-eight, which those who called it expect to result in the formation of a third party, will open in the Morrison hotel and will be in session until Saturday. At this convention an endeavor will be made to form an amalgamation of the Labor party, the Nonpartisan league, various farmers' organizations, and of other radicals. Those behind it hope to attract deserters from both the Democratic and the Republican parties.

Third Party Seems Certain.

That some sort of a third party will be evolved as the result of the convention seems certain, but the Republican and Democratic managers no longer are as fearful of the third party movement as they were before their conventions were held.

If Senator Hiram W. Johnson could be induced to accept the third party nomination for president, he could probably have it for the asking. The committee of forty-eight leaders, however, have faint hopes of Johnson's support, in spite of his refusal to discuss the results of the Republican convention. They also have practically abandoned hope of aid from Senator Borah of Idaho, and are now about ready to make Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin their nominee.

During the week William R. Hearst, one of those behind the third party movement, endeavored to induce it to nominate Senator James A. Reed, who was thrown out of the Democratic convention. His plan was endorsed by the local committee of forty-eight leaders, but was nipped in the bud by Senator Reed's refusal to be considered and his declaration he was still a Democrat.

HARDING, ON WAY HOME, HITS TRAIL OF WASHINGTON

Breaks Speed Records in Trip from Capital.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican presidential nominee, arrived in Chicago at 8:30 o'clock tonight, after spending the Fourth touring in his automobile over the old trail followed by George Washington, serving in his military expedition against the French and Indians.

The senator party covered a long distance and at times broke speed records to reach Zanesville tonight. Leaving Cumberland, Md., at 9 o'clock this morning, the party was on the road nearly twelve hours, covering 100 miles. Only two stops were made. At Washington, Pa., the senator and Mrs. Harding stopped long enough to eat and take lunch with the senator's cousin, Robert Parkinson Jr. After resting for two hours they were again on their way.

At Wheeling they made another stop at a hotel, where Senator Harding greeted a few admirers who recognized him in the lobby. Mrs. Harding also greeted with those who were on hand to greet the party.

Cheered Along Road.
This is Senator Harding's first visit to his native state since he was nominated at Chicago. After he crossed the Ohio river into the Buckeye state he was greeted by a large crowd of people along the road began to cheer him and cheer him. The senator responded by waving his hat, but did not stop. All of the morning he spent in finishing the trip across the mountains.

The senator's car slowed down several times to permit him to inspect the remains of historic events. He passed through the battlefield of Great Meadows where Washington received his baptism of fire in the French and Indian war. Later he passed the shaft marking the grave of Gen. Braddock. Senator Harding is adhering strictly to his determination to talk no politics until after his notification speech. He did not return from the San Francisco balling early this morning, but made no comment.

He Likes His Stogie.
At Wheeling he bought an armful of newspapers to read about the proceedings. Nearing Wheeling the senator was made aware that he was in a machine held out a long Wheeling stogie and the senator grabbed it eagerly. He smoked it with apparent relish.

It can be found that Senator Harding will speak at St. Louis on July 25 at the dedication of the American Legion memorial there, it was stated today. It will not be a political speech and is not considered a departure from the first porch plan.

Since he left Washington yesterday afternoon, Senator Harding has covered about 350 miles in his automobile. He still has about 100 miles to travel to reach Marion. The party will arrive Zanesville at an early hour tomorrow morning to enable the senator to be on hand promptly for the homecoming celebration planned by his old town folk.

Big Reception Planned.
Marion, O., July 4.—It was more than Sunday and Fourth of July for Marion citizens today. It was a day crowded with anticipations of the homecoming tomorrow of Senator Warren G. Harding, Marion's most honored citizen, the Republican candidate for president.

ELKS PLANNING HONORS TO THEIR 20,000 HEROES

horse Mrs. James Rankin of 3239 South Canal street became excited and slipped between the seats of the grand stand. She suffered slight bruises and was taken home.

"There won't be a whole cowboy leave town," said Kenneth Maynard after the show was over. "Floyd Schultz had his hip broken yesterday. Prairie Rose Henderson was badly jarred up in a fall on Saturday, and all the boys are bruised."

Crushed Under Horse.
In the cowboys relay race, a two mile run with four changes of horses, Jason Stanley was crushed beneath his pony. The horse fell as Stanley was jumping off for a change. Stanley was hurried to a first aid station. As they carried him away he reached for his saddle and begged to be allowed to continue the race. Jay Miller won the contest.

The lake breezes made theaters popular last night. Every top playhouse was crowded with the wearers of the purple and white. Afterwards came the cabaret and dancing parties.

Among the prominent Elks arriving in Chicago yesterday were John K. Tener of Philadelphia, Pa., chairman of the Elks war relief commission, and Joseph T. Fanning, secretary of the relief commission.

The decorating of Michigan avenue and State street was finished yesterday. Never have the two thoroughfares been so brilliant with color.

JAPANESE, AFTER MASSACRE, QUIT TRANSBAIKALIA

TOKIO, July 3.—An official announcement issued today confirms that Japan has decided to withdraw her troops from Transbaikalia, but that simultaneously, in consequence of the Nikolaevsk massacre, Japan will occupy various points in the Russian province of Saghalien, which includes the Russian half of Saghalien island, and also the town of Nikolaevsk on the northwest portion of the island and its neighborhood.

Japan will maintain forces in the Vladivostok district and also at Khabarovsk, which is regarded as a strategic point on the way to Nikolaevsk. Advances received from Siberia are to the effect that 400 officers and men of the Japanese regiment, pursuing the partisans responsible for the massacre in Nikolaevsk, were killed before the partisans were wiped out.

MANILA, June 22.—[Delayed.]—Resolutions asking the American Federation of Labor to urge the congress of the United States to grant independence to the Philippine islands were adopted today at a mass meeting called by the labor congress of the Philippines. The resolutions stated this was asked in view of the federation's action in endorsing the Irish republic.

HORNING IN WITH ELKS

The exalted ruler of the Elks' youngest lodge—founded less than a month ago—is H. E. Smalley. He is that tanned individual whose hat ribbon reads Round Brook, N. J.

"Baby lodges should be seen and not heard," avers the exalted ruler. "I will say, however, that Gov. Edwards and I are both Elks. I might add that neither of us belongs to the Anti-Saloon league."

Gringos may be interested to know that Dr. S. L. Walker, nephew of Pancho Villa and for fifteen years his secretary, is attending the convention. He is past exalted ruler of the Del Rio, Tex., lodge.

"Bronco John" Sullivan fought Geronimo and the Apaches when Pershing was a lieutenant. He was a courier scout in the days of Custer. He performed in Buffalo Bill's first wild west show back in '73. Which accounts for the seat with which he peered at the cowboys from under those heavy gray eyebrows.

"These boys deserve great credit for they are keeping the good old traditions of the plains alive," said the old timer. "Our law was one of right and wrong. Such great men as Roosevelt and your mayor didn't know what law was until they came out among the cowboys."

"Bronco John's" home is everywhere, U. S. A.

Today 800 Bills will arrive from Milwaukee. Tonight they will repose on 800 army cots out on the municipal pier. Archie Coles secured the quarters.

"The Elk is a pretty nice animal. My dad's an Elk."

Thus asserted Mr. James Kahnweiler, 5 years old, of 3213 Laguarda avenue. Mr. Kahnweiler was clad in a white sailor suit and wore an overcoat with slant pockets. He was surveying the rest of the herd from a table.

"Howdy," greeted Miss Newton, according to the manner of Texans. "Didn't you used to work on my daddy's ranch in Mission?"

"I shod did, Miss Hesper. Howdy."

At which juncture the cow gossip commenced.

MAUDE RADFORD WARREN IN REDS' HANDS 2 MONTHS

On Ship in Harbor When Baku Was Taken.

BY LARRY RUE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

(By Special Cable.)

(Copyright, 1920, by the Tribune Company.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 4.—The hopes that the Georgian, Polish, and

MAUDE RADFORD WARREN.

Wrangle drives would drain the bolshevik troops from the Caucasus is dispelled by Maude Radford Warren, American writer, who has just returned from Baku, where she was a prisoner for two months.

"The soviet government has 50,000 troops in the army of occupation in Azerbaijan now," she says, "and is more deeply rooted in the Caucasus now than ever. Despite anti-Red demonstrations in Georgia, foreigners there are confident it is only a matter of time before it will go soviet."

Mrs. Warren was on a British ship at Baku when the soviet took possession of the Azerbaijan government administration, which, she says, was done without violence. After being held on the ship for thirty-six hours she was permitted to go ashore alone; but the Reds occupied the hotels, and she was forced to appeal to a wealthy Armenian for food and lodging.

The shops were closed the first three days, but were reopened, and prices were soaring. The bolsheviks paid for food, but requisitioned buildings, rolling stock and other necessities without compensating the owners.

Mrs. Warren says the members of the foreign mission were arrested, but were not mistreated. The Italian mission was permitted to leave, while forty Britishers and many Poles were held as hostages.

The Reds permitted Mrs. Warren to leave on foot for Tiflis on June 18.

BATTLESHIP HITS NAVAL SAILBOAT; WOMEN SAVED

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 3.—A

British dreadnaught, returning from

Panderna, where it had been covering a Greek landing party, struck a sail boat last night containing eleven occupants, including United States naval officers and two women relief workers, May Schank and Georgia Cedric.

The ship, seized, but the Americans were saved despite the thirteen mile current which made the collision unavoidable.

The British sailors launched a life-boat and played searchlights on the water until all the Americans were picked up. Although the women were unable to swim, both clung to wreckage.

GERMANS WARN ALLIES AT SPA: DON'T DICTATE

Refuse to Decide War Payment on Spot.

BY PARKE BROWN.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)
SPA, July 4.—In an interview half an hour after his arrival in Spa, Walter Simons, German minister of foreign affairs, disclosed two extremely important phases of the attitude of his country on the eve of entering the first real conference with the allies since the war. They were:

1. Germany does not intend to present specified proposals concerning reparations unless, and until, all conditions have been discussed and a mutual understanding is established on this score.

2. Even more important, the German delegation does not consider itself bound to enter into a final agreement concerning the armistice, and the only method possible of reaching a definite agreement will be as a result of a thorough and possibly long discussion and a common understanding of what Germany is able to pay.

In other words, the previously slim prospects that the Spa conference would be able to solve the main financial and economic problems left over from Versailles are considered exceedingly reduced by Simons' statement.

Intentions All Right.
"Germany has come here with a firm determination to do everything in its power to attain results satisfactory to all people concerned," said Simons. "The task of the conference at this time as I see it will be to end the uncertainty concerning the method of fulfilling the treaty. We cannot even draw up a budget without knowing what burdens will be placed on our shoulders."

"On the other hand, we see clearly that other nations, which, under the treaty, have claims against Germany, must know as quickly as possible how Germany will fulfill its obligations."

"Unfortunately, Germany is not at liberty to decide what steps can be taken by her in this respect. For instance, it still is quite uncertain whether, when determining her capacity, Germany can count upon extensive economic resources in upper Silesia."

IT'S HIS LAND, TOO

Chicago Chinese High School Boy Who Goes to Learn Military Tactics at Camp Roosevelt.

ANDREW C. HYN.

Muskegon, Mich., July 4.—The arrival of 500 Chicago boys on the steamers Carolina and Indiana tonight marked the official opening of Camp Roosevelt, the Chicago R. O. T. C. camp. The trips were made without mishap, although the Indiana was late in arriving.

Thirty minutes after the docking the boys were at the camp six miles away, and many racing for the mess halls. Three hundred more boys are expected within the next two days. Several hundred Muskegon citizens gave the boys a welcome tonight. More than 200 scout crafters are here.

The Hyde Park High school band is the official musical organization. Camp High school will open Tuesday with Chicago teachers in charge. The Chicago boys were in personal charge of Capt. F. L. Beals, commandant, and several regular army officers. They are of almost every nationality, even the Chinese, who are represented by Andrew C. Hynn.

GERMANS AT SPA SEE RUINS THEY MUST PAY FOR

Belgians Greet Delegates Coldly.

BY HENRY WALES.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)
(Copyright, 1920: By the Tribune Company.)

SPA, July 4.—Spa witnessed the return of the Germans this afternoon coldly and calmly, but with interest. The townspeople crowded the station, lined the streets, and peered from every window and doorway. They were as silent and unobtrusive as when they witnessed the coming and going of the German chiefs during the war, when Spa was a field headquarters for great generals, contained the staffs of Falkenheim, Moltke, Hindenburg, and other leaders of the war machine. This will be the first meeting of the German delegation since Versailles.

No sound came from the crowd when the German delegation's special train, drawn by a British locomotive and manned by a British driver and crew, who took it over at Cologne, steamed into the station, just as it started raining.

Welcome by King's Friend.
The only cordial note was the appearance of Rolf Jansen, secretary of the Belgian peace delegation and Belgian member of the Rhineland commission, at the station to welcome the visitors in behalf of the Belgian government.

This afternoon's welcome was particularly significant, as M. Jacquemyns is a close friend of King Albert. M. Jacquemyns clambered in the German delegation's car, grasped the chancellor's hand, and shook it warmly. Then he escorted the German chief to his automobile, riding with him to Villa Forlier, where the chancellor, Annette Lubin hotel and Villa Forlier.

COCKROACH HUNT SETS POLICE ON BURGLAR QUEST

Telephone information that the building owned by Charles F. Wagner at 55 East Chicago avenue had been entered by a lone burglar sent five policemen there last night. They drew their revolvers and surrounded the premises.

Policeman Johnny Dietz first saw the man through a window. He carried a flashlight, which he turned on, and off at regular intervals. He was walking cautiously about the dining room. Dietz sneaked through a kitchen window, and pounced upon him. The other officers dragged him into the street, under an arc lamp.

"Why, that's Charley Wagner," ejaculated Dietz. "I'll say it is," replied Mr. Wagner. "Gunny" a guy can't clean out his own flat without the cops interfering. I'm chasing cockroaches. They only come out at night, you know. I stalk them with this flashlight. Then, I sneak up on them and smack them with this wooden paddle."

PICKING A STATE'S ATTORNEY.

Thirteen death penalties obtained by the state's attorney's office within two months has given a keen edge to the question of who shall be state's attorney for the next term.

Thirteen is an unlucky number and there are practical minded gentlemen in our city who are sufficiently superstitious to be impressed by it. Those of our fellow citizens who sustain a profitable liaison between vice, crime, and politics are always interested in the state's attorneyship, but of late there has been a very notable change among jurors in their attitude toward those before them who have been indulging in our popular American sport of taking life. In fact, thanks to the work of the Chicago crime commission, the hammering of this Tribune, and the effective work of prosecutors, with juries aroused and additional judges in the criminal branch, there is growing concern to pay out.

Hence an interest in the state's attorneyship which is keener even than usual. For it is obvious that if there is not going to be more hanging and more consignments to Joliet, the right man has got to be sent to the north side when Hoyne's term is over. Such a man would be one who could put up a good front, make the front page often enough to keep the careless public from getting wise to the fact that the system still works while he sleeps, and generally see that the right men do not get into serious trouble.

We ask the careless public to give attention to this situation. If you want life and property to be as secure as a civilized community's proper standard demands, you will scrutinize with unusual care the gentlemen who are come forward or are put forward for your approval in this campaign. You will inquire very thoroughly into their records, if any, and into their affiliations and associations, open and undisclosed.

This will not be left to the unassisted citizen, who would have some difficulty in digging up the wires by which vice, crime, and profitable violence connect with politics. But they will be exposed and it will then be up to the public to make its choice. We believe there will be candidates who can be relied upon to enforce the laws without fear or favor. There certainly will be candidates who cannot be so relied upon. It is up to the people of Cook county to make choice.

WHERE THE MONEY COMES FROM.

The spectacle of the Danville street railway employees' union battling with the railroad shop men's union at Danville over the proposed raise of fare on the local trolley lines is of interest far beyond the battle itself. It is a development which may mean the beginning of a new era in the labor problem.

Both the car men and shop men argued from the natural standpoint of self-interest. The car men wanted higher fares to provide higher wages. The shop men opposed higher fare because it meant greater expense to them. Between the two an observer can see an important point.

It is the realization by union men that high wages and high costs are interdependent, even though high wages are not entirely to blame for high costs. The car men realize they cannot get higher wages unless the shop men pay the money to the company in higher fares. The shop men object to losing the advantages of their own wage scale by paying more money to get to and from their jobs. Both make it clear that they understand the economic question involved. They no longer consider an employer an inexhaustible source of supply.

Beyond a certain point a raise in wages for one union means a lessening of the purchasing power of the wages of another union. In other words, the product becomes more important than the medium of exchange. British unions, and to a small extent American unions, have recognized that fact. In most cases the recognition has been by union officials who have some knowledge of economics.

The Danville incident is a recognition of a great economic principle by 2,000 men of the rank and file. It may, for that reason, have more influence upon organized labor than any pronouncement by officials. If it does bring home to the rank and file such an economic fact, it will have nationwide benefit by preparing the ground for cultivation of more economic knowledge. When such knowledge reaches general growth among union men many of their difficulties will be over, and the rest of the world with them will give thanks.

BROADER NEW YORK.

Robert R. Dunn, eastern vice president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association, commenting on a recent editorial in THE TRIBUNE, wrote from New York that eastern opposition to the Lakes to the Atlantic deep waterway is confined mainly to men interested in the barge canal. We had suspected that, but were hardly prepared to hope for the additional good news which Mr. Dunn writes. He says:

"The big and representative men in New York take a broad view—namely, they favor any development that promises economic relief to such a large section of the country as the St. Lawrence seaway would accomplish. They believe that the growth of the west is more essential to New York than the smaller question of western tonnage to New York harbor."

That is indeed good news, not only for the St. Lawrence seaway supporters, but for the nation. When men of influence are capable of putting aside provincial jealousy and narrow self-interest, as those cited by Mr. Dunn have done in the broader interest of vast areas, the nation will profit and eventually will prove its appreciation.

Even the barge canal interests which are the chief opponents of the proposed seaway will eventually be brought to see the error of their ideas. The old Erie canal, at the peak of its prosperity, was supported by a tonnage 75 per cent of which originated along its banks. The new canal will do even better if the St. Lawrence project is completed. Any loss of through barge traffic from Buffalo to New York, due to the St. Lawrence waterway, will be much more than offset by the development of factories along the new canal. The cheap electric power from the river improvement and the advantages of local transportation offered by the barge canal make this certain. The state of New York and even the port will gain, not lose, by the development of the St. Lawrence waterway.

DEMOCRATS VERSUS SOLDIERS.

It was not necessary for the Democrats in their platform openly to insult the men who fought in France while the slackers and draft dodgers in that convention were proffering. The soldiers already knew that the Democratic party was hostile to them, that it neglected their welfare while enriching that section of the country in which it dominates.

If the soldiers are not aware of the fact that the war revenue bill could not be passed until provided for Virginia in the form of training camps and munition factories, they all know that soldiers paid $1 a day were compelled by the Wilson administration to work on Virginia roads side by side with Negro laborers receiving $5 a day.

The soldiers know that the Democrats made Congressman Dent chairman of the committee on military affairs, and that Dent exercised the full power of his position to prevent reinforcements being sent to our hard pressed battle line.

The soldiers know that the Germans held command of the air while six hundred million dollars was being squandered for the benefit of those close to the war department.

The soldiers know that the Democratic states did not furnish volunteers for the war. They know also that the draft law was manipulated by the Democratic administration to spare the southern states from furnishing their quotas of troops.

They know that boys from Illinois and Indiana were sent south to fill up the divisions accredited to the Democratic states.

They know that the Democrats had millions for camp builders, ship builders, contractors, airplane promoters, conscientious objectors and slackers, and that economy only entered the Democratic head to oppose the payment to defenders of their country of a small percentage of the sums lavished on stay at home.

It did not take the insulting words to show Democratic hostility to American soldiers.

A PRISON IN NAME ONLY.

Five murderers and four other convicts walked calmly to freedom under the eyes of a guard at the honor farm of Joliet penitentiary on Friday. Three women convicts escaped from the prison with equal ease four days earlier. Twenty men scorned the "honor" of the honor farm and the bars of the prison in May and escaped.

Again we are moved to ask: What is a penitentiary? Is it a place where murderers, robbers, and forgers are gathered at their own discretion for mental, moral, and physical uplift, or is it a place where enemies of society are to be confined for the protection of the public upon which they prey? It begins to appear that it is the former. The murderer or convict, finding that the spirit of uplift no longer interests him, simply departs without ceremony to return to his old haunts and activities.

If departure is so simple as it appears to be on the face of extensive evidence, we are inclined to suggest that the board of pardons and paroles has become superfluous. Why should a convict go to all the trouble of appeals, witnesses, hearings, and so forth, to obtain liberty, when all he has to do is to open a door, climb out a coal chute, or wander peacefully away from the farm, picking flowers the while with childlike simplicity? Perhaps the flower picking is the justification. At least it is the last five murderers stroll away. To be sure, they were man killers, but they loved flowers. They could not be wholly bad. Therefore, let them go.

That seems to be about as sane a line of reasoning as any which has attempted to explain or defend the recent wholesale jail deliveries. If it is kept up, we predict a remarkable growth of the love of flowers among the convicts. But there will be no simultaneous growth of the love of prison guards and prison authorities among the people who are to be again victimized or murdered by these escaped convicts.

It is high time Gov. Lowden should look into the personnel of his state penitentiary guards and officials.

One man may escape prison by accident or extraordinary ingenuity. Two may escape in the same way. When thirty-two escape after the state has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to confine them, the suggestion of connivance seems feeble.

Editorial of the Day

LUXURIES AND WASTE.

The national bill for luxuries set forth by the secretary of the treasury is calculated to make the "drink bill" that used to horrify us before the eighth amendment look ridiculous. That amounted to a billion and a half or two billions, and we believe that covered tea and coffee as well as alcoholic drinks. Mr. Houston produces a catalogue of luxuries that reaches nearly twenty-three billions for a single year. This is within half or three-quarters of a billion of the costs of war for two years and seven months, as stated last December by Secretary Glass, after deducting what the ordinary cost of government would be without war and also the loans to our associates, which are in a sense investments.

Not nearly all of these luxuries are indulgences of the appetites. They include good clothes and expenditures in travel and a couple of billions for automobiles, and three-quarters of 1 per cent of that last item for works of art; and books? They are not mentioned. Is it because the item is too small to be visible? Is it what is called in chemical analyses "a trace"? But tobacco, "soft drinks," "cereal beverages," perfume, cosmetics, fancy soaps, make the "drink bill" of previous years look contemptible. The notion used to be that if people did not spend their nickels for beer, their dimes and quarters for distilled spirits, and their dollars for champagne they would put the money in the savings bank or invest it in "laudable commercial enterprises. But they do nothing of the sort. They go to "movies" and buy "near beer," and not very near either, and eat candy or cocaine cigarettes. As a matter of political economy, the closing of the bars has negligible results. Thrift has not sprung up and blossomed all over the country.

DAWN.

From under leaden lids of sleepiness I watched fading Aquila, westering, yield Behind the Milky Way's gay daisy field, To Aurora, then saw with what distress The long gray shadows of the dawn oppress A world reluctant to be unengaged.

From frozen slumber, saw again revealed Life's haggard face in clear light, pitiless.

The Sun's first gold crown an imperial oak, Against a dappled sky the vague turquoise; A fluttering viceroy, whom my step awoke, In turn awakes the house-wren's busy noise. The day is born, in travail and deep pain, And, ere it close, I'll hear your voice again.

Confirmation of the Following:

McAdoo's withdrawal from the race for nomination can be readily understood, in the light of conditions in the party. We may ignore his official explanation, that he cannot afford the financial sacrifice involved in running for the presidency. There is no American who would not somehow make an effort to secure financial success, if he had a chance of putting up a good fight for what he considers the most exalted office in the world. But McAdoo understands that perfectly that whoever may be nominated on a platform of fulsome approval of whatever the administration has done or failed to do will serve only as a funeral sacrifice, and McAdoo is willing to let somebody else have that honor.

WEATHER, TEMPERATURES, WORK.

L DONARD HILL, a great English physiologist, recently wrote an interesting book on ventilation. He is recognized as a world authority on the subject. If there is any need for backing of Hill as an authority this is supplied by the medical research committee of the national health insurance, which issues the Hill book as one of its special reports.

In this book there is a lot of advice as to activities during hot weather. He says: "By screening off the sun and supplying a suitable wind, work in temperate climates on most days of the year can be done with coolness and safety. The means of fans may be used to escape from under the sun 'in the sweat of the face' shall thou eat bread." It will pay the employer to regulate the cooling of his workmen by the installation of fans.

The essential of his plan is to provide working places with plenty of electrically driven fans. In so far as possible the fans should be arranged to create a radiant heat, such as that from the sun and from fires. Overcooling is not to be permitted.

The reason cases it will pay to chill the workroom by some form of refrigeration, because those who play demand it. Some hospitals for babies are cooled as a means of saving babies' lives. Soon some employers will plan to increase output by cooling the air. Many who cannot refrigerate can make the workroom comfortable by the installation of fans.

To prevent minor shop accidents Vernon has shown that the temperature must be kept above 55 degrees and below 85 degrees. Whenever the air temperature of the shop falls below the first figure or went above the second a rise in the accident rate was noted.

The best temperatures for various tasks is reported on by Hill.

The tailor is comfortable in still air at 59 degrees. If the temperature rises to 81 degrees he must sit in a steady breeze of one mile an hour, or the quality and quantity of his work will fall off.

Carpenters, metal workers, and painters work best at the freezing temperature. If the temperature is 75 degrees they must have a breeze of one mile an hour, and if 86 degrees nine miles an hour, for efficiency.

The stone mason must have a breeze of one mile an hour, and if the temperature is 80 degrees, two miles if 83 degrees, and nine miles if 75 degrees.

Mandel Brothers' Japanese silk sale supreme

35,000 yards imported white habutai silks in a record offer.

The late turmoil in the Japanese silk market—the sharp curtailment of credit by Japanese banks—the sudden termination of the Japanese era of "skyrocketing" silk prices—all were taken speedy advantage of by our personal representative in Yokohama, through whom we consummated the most profitable single purchase of silks in our experience. The five sale prices are the lowest quoted since 1916 on high grade Japanese habutai silks. They are based on raw silk at $4 per pound, which is about half today's regular figure.

These silks are just out of their sea boxes. Opening their foreign wrappings, you will exclaim at the habutais' snowy brilliancy—fine grade—superlative quality. They are Japan's choicest habutai silks, obtainable only from the Echigen district; every yard securely and firmly woven of pure silk and with fast edges; they will launder like linen. The values are much more than remarkable.

These silks as inexpensive as cotton and equal to cotton in wearing quality. Here, then, is an opportunity for every woman in Chicago to satisfy her natural love for beautiful garments of silk at prices she could hardly dare hope for under ordinary conditions.

The host of uses for white habutai

is known and appreciated by women everywhere. For dainty undergarments, delightful negligees, charming blouses, practical dresses, luxurious boudoir apparel or dressing gowns, children's wear and men's shirts, such habutais are unexcelled.

There are as many weights as there are uses for these handsome, high grade habutais from Nippon. Tuesday's earliest shoppers will fare best, for at the five low sale prices given the whole 35,000 yards will be quickly sold.

FOURTH BRINGS TWIN HOLIDAYS FOR BUSY CITY

Poles' Celebration One of Day's Features.

Chicago threw care to the winds yesterday and entered upon the celebration of a two day Fourth of July holiday full of enthusiasm, giving thanks the meanwhile for an ideal day.

Hundreds of thousands attended celebrations in various parts of the city, held family picnics in the parks, motored out of town, filled the theaters, and attended exhibitions of fireworks.

In Sherman park, at West Fifty-second and Loomis streets, the Poles celebrated. More than 10,000 men, women, and children witnessed the presentation of a Polish flag to the Poles of Chicago who fought in the American and Polish armies during the war.

The flag is the gift of the city of Warsaw and bears the legend: "To the Polish army across the sea." It was presented by Lieut. Col. Joseph C. Siskin of the Polish army, veteran of the Lafayette and Kosciuszko squadrons. The emblem was dedicated by the Rev. Francis Tyrochar.

Fort Dearborn Celebration.
Members of the Fort Dearborn Reconstruction club held a joint program at the south end of the Rush street bridge, observing Independence day and the one hundred and seventeenth anniversary of the day when ground was broken for the construction of Fort Dearborn.

Visitors packed the Municipal pier auditorium, where a community service program was given. Thirteen girls representing the colonial states participated in a pageant during which the pledge to the flag was given.

FOURTH CAUSES ONE DEATH

Joseph Holland, 1727 Ellen street, died in the office of Coll. Ingham at 1746 West Division street yesterday after his skull was fractured in a fall when a torpedo was exploded under a wagon, causing the horse to run away.

Delbert Brundage, 14 years old, of Wichita, Kas., was shot through the stomach by a stray bullet from a 25 caliber automatic in the hands of Otto Pernaia, 1833 West Thirty-third street, at Archer avenue and Wood street. Pernaia is 14 years old. The Brundage boy is in a serious condition at St. Anthony's hospital.

A firecracker exploded in the right hand of John Horak, 14 years old, 2342 West Ohio street, making necessary the amputation of his thumb, index, and little fingers.

Joseph Sittichak was washing dishes in his home at 2708 Bosworth street when a stray bullet through the open doorway struck him in the right thigh. Frank Van Korchakow, 2707 North Ashland avenue, was taken into custody.

Mrs. Frances Jafnako of 518 Auburn street was wounded in the shoulder by a stray bullet as she was crossing Grand avenue at Paulina street.

A shot from a 32 caliber revolver struck Mrs. Frances Lasinski, 40, in the right shoulder as she was sitting on the steps of her home at 518 Osceola street.

Yesterday there were 114 fires, but only one was caused by Fourth of July celebration. A balloon fell on a roof at Nineteenth street and Kedzie avenue and caused slight damage.

PATRIOTIC SERMONS

BY THE REV. F. L. GRATTOT.
Churches throughout the land yesterday took advantage of the coincidence of Sunday and July 4 to hold patriotic services, and clergymen delivered sermons appropriate to the occasion.

"A man must do his duty not only to his country, but also to the world of which his country is a part," said the Rev. James S. Stone, D. D., at St. James' Episcopal church. "It is no more possible for us to ignore our neighbors in a national sense than for us to disregard the man who lives next door. Supporting he should fill his cellar with dynamite and gunpowder. We would have to look after him. So it is with European and other nations."

"It is highly selfish for us to stand aside while the nations of the world need our help and counsel. I stand firmly in favor of the league of nations."

"Lawlessness in any form breeds bohemianism," said the Rev. John H. Edwards at the Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest. "The rich man or woman who smuggles, stealing from Uncle Sam, is as reprehensible as the weak thief. The wealthy person who disregards the eighteenth amendment is a promoter of anarchy."

New Closing Hours for Want Ads

MISS ITALIA GARIBALDI, Sherman placed a wreath at the Garibaldi monument. There was a joint Fourth of July celebration and observance of the birthday of Garibaldi, in which thousands of Italians took part.

ALL FRANCE PAYS TRIBUTE TO U. S. INDEPENDENCE DAY

PARIS, July 4.—Cordial Independence day greetings to the American people were cabled President Wilson by Premier Millerand yesterday. The premier's cablegram follows:

"July 4, the anniversary of the liberation of a democracy dear to us, will be celebrated by our country like a national fête. In our universities and our schools teachers will recall to the youth of France the significance of your Independence and the spontaneous cooperation of France in this great event. Your flag will float over our public monuments and will be respectfully saluted by our people."

"We evoke the memory of your heroes and your statesmen, associating them with more recent remembrance of their descendants raised by your call for the salvation of the world."

"The government and people of France have already promised to venture as their own the Americans who died in France in 1917 and 1918. It is with the same thought that I bow before those who died for independence and send this friendly greeting to the American nation, to which the French democracy is attached by the indissoluble bonds of fraternal gratitude."

Twenty thousand orphans of France, whose fathers gave up their lives in the great war, filed past Hugh C. Wallace, the American ambassador, in the Tuileries gardens this morning, dipping miniature American flags as a tribute to America.

"I have been a policeman sixteen years and I have never fired a shot at anybody, though there's many a criminal I have arrested," the father said. "Of course, a policeman should carry a revolver. But he should be mighty sure he's right before he shoots."

Gassed Soldier Held on Bad Check Charge
Alfred C. Skauby, gassed and wounded with the Canadian forces at Ypres, was locked up at the detective bureau last night, charged with passing a bogus check for $250 bearing the signature of Alfred Steele, president of the Three Oaks Oil company of Houston, Tex., by whom Skauby was employed. Skauby told Detective Sergeant George De Mar and John Rank into the Center street harbor. The engine of the motor boat containing the eight people went out of commission and they were at the mercy of the choppy sea. The plates went to the rescue in their boat.

Twins Save Eight Persons at Mercy of Rough Lake
Carl and Curt Plate, twins, of 3738 Montrose boulevard saved four women, two men and two children in a disabled boat about a mile in the lake yesterday, amid the plaudits of a crowd who watched the twins tow the derelict into the Center street harbor. The engine of the motor boat containing the eight people went out of commission and they were at the mercy of the choppy sea. The plates went to the rescue in their boat.

Romeo on Way Overseas Taken on Theft Charge
The blue eyes of a Lithuanian girl across the sea lured Tom Bastas to a cell in New York city last night. He will be returned to Chicago, however, to answer the charge of William Pickworm, Detroit, at Forty-seventh street and Hermitage avenue, his employer, that he departed with $2,000 he had been given to deposit in the bank. Detective Sergeant Thomas Duffy learned Bastas had obtained passports.

Arrival of Miss Columbia Interrupts Holiday Trip
J. C. McGrath and his wife of 1151 East Fifty-second street started for Fox Lake Saturday to spend a few days there. They got only as far as Waukegan. There Mrs. McGrath went to the Lake county general hospital. The family numbers three now—Mr. and Mrs. McGrath and Columbia—so called because she's a Fourth of July girl.

Man Tries Out New Car, Hits 2 Machines.
A runaway automobile piloted by Nathan Ginsberg of 2703 Evergreen avenue smashed into two cars and catapulted a baby 100 feet into a wheat field yesterday before it hurled a ditch and was wrecked. The baby was not hurt.

It was in Sheridan road, a mile north of Waukegan. The first automobile Ginsberg hit was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oglesby of Waukegan. It rolled over off the road. Mrs. Oglesby, who was holding the baby, was seriously injured.

Ginsberg's car continued at a fifty-mile clip, and a few seconds later smashed into the automobile of Dr. Albert J. Schmalzer of Hillman, Mich., wrecking it. The impact caused the runaway car to hurdle a ditch and land near a fence. No one was injured.

Sheriff Elmer Green arrested Ginsberg. On recommendation of State Attorney J. C. Welch he was held in $2,500 bonds—$2,000 on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and $500 on a charge of speeding. He said he was trying out a new car.

Boy Badly Hurt.
In Chicago proper there were few July 4 automobile accidents. Daniel Bartis, 10 years old, 712 West Seventeenth street, was struck by an automobile driven by William J. Tompkins, 5702 Emerald avenue. Physicians at the Mercy hospital said his chances of recovery were slight. Tompkins was not held.

From Michigan City word was received that Fred H. Simons of Chicago had been fatally injured when an automobile was struck by a passenger train. There are two Fred Simons listed in the telephone directory, but neither was the man. M. H. Jester, 2855 Calumet avenue, was probably fatally injured in the same accident.

POLLASKY IN JAIL, A REAL OPTIMIST, TURNS SKY PILOT

Crony of the Great Cheerful Without Bail.

"My friends, it is my privilege to bring to you today a message from on high to the effect that the Lord is always with us."

Through the South Clark street jail yesterday resounded the voice of Marcus Pollasky, lawyer, friend of statesmen, promoter, president of the $150,000,000 Chicago Central Subroad company, candidate for Hiram Johnson's running mate, etc.

Mr. Pollasky is awaiting disposition of a charge that he had passed a worthless $75 check and was holding a revival service for the benefit of the other inmates.

Things Might Be Worse.
"Even though things look black to us," he continued, "they are not as bad as they might be; even in this jail—which, by the way, is not so inviting as when I visited it some time ago as a member of the state prison inspection commission."

Mr. Pollasky paused to clear his throat, and in the ensuing silence a youthful alleged pickpocket, groaned. Like most of the other prisoners, he had pressed close against the bars to listen.

As the orator continued the youth wailed. "I repent," he cried and fell on the floor in a fit.

Rival Attraction Appears.
At this juncture two women and a burly gentleman entered. "We are of the Prison Bible association and have come for a word of the Scriptures and prayer," announced the visitors.

"Hold on," Mr. Pollasky interposed; "I'm holding a revival myself." The youthful convert groaned. He was coming round. The janitor of the jail was slushing him with chilly water.

Mr. Pollasky and the prison worker waxed argumentative. Both contended for the honor of regaling the spiritual life of the prisoners.

"Only the presence of the ladies preventing you from telling us exactly what I think of you and your brand of religion," Mr. Pollasky remarked to the burly gentleman at length.

"If you were out of that cell I'd demonstrate what I think of yours," replied the b. g.

"You guys cut it out," the peevish voice of the lockup keeper broke in. "You're disturbing my afternoon nap."

Friendship of Great Fleeing.
The Prison Bible association representatives departed. Whereupon Mr. Pollasky expatiated to the reporter on the variable—not to say fleeting—nature of friendship among the great men of Chicago's big game men."

"Did you notice any of them outside, as you came in? No, sir; they don't want to get mixed up in this business. That's why I'm still here."

Mr. Pollasky remarked that his wife, Mrs. Berenice Wilhelmina Rosbrough Waita Pollasky, had written to the station earlier in the day in a tactless. He had paid the chauffeur, he said, feeling it out of place for his wife to spend money while he was "temporarily isolated."

"Of course she's arranging a bond," the reporter observed.

Woman's Place in Home.
"Not at all," retorted Mr. Pollasky with some heat. "Woman's place is in the home. This is purely a social matter between me and the Congress and does not come within the woman's sphere."

"If you will excuse me now I think I shall have the janitor get me some cantaloupes, pie, a sandwich, and coffee," he concluded. "Thank you for paying me this social visit."

The youthful convert in the adjacent cell meanwhile had recovered. "Gee, I feel rotten," he complained as the reporter went on his way.

Why are you glad you are an American?

The Answers.
HARRY TUPPER, 5455 Lake Park avenue, waiter—I'm glad I'm an American because Americans are the best people in the world and because there is no other country that even comes close to Uncle Sam's country.

MISS ELSIE CHESEBROUGH, 1347 North State street, musician—To be an American is to be a person envied of many and equalled by none. Our laws, our civilization, our opportunities, our national institutions are the best on earth.

FRANK JENSON, 145 South Kedzie avenue, laborer—What other country is there where a man can have the freedom, the opportunity, the comforts and even such a good living as here? I'm glad I'm American because I wouldn't be anything else.

J. J. SANFORD, 3235 Prairie avenue, clerk—To be an American is to be one whom men of every other nation admire for independence, good living, clean morals—in fact, every great and good trait.

F. T. KELLER, 3820 West End avenue, broker—The blessing of being an American is too great, too complicated a feeling to allow me to define it. I'm just glad that I am American, that's all.

A runaway automobile piloted by Nathan Ginsberg of 2703 Evergreen avenue smashed into two cars and catapulted a baby 100 feet into a wheat field yesterday before it hurled a ditch and was wrecked. The baby was not hurt.

KING OF SWEDEN DECORATES 5 OF CHICAGO CHORUS

Stockholm Gives Big Welcome to Visiting Club.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
(By Special Cable.)

STOCKHOLM, July 4.—At the opening of tonight's concert by the Swedish Choral Club of Chicago, King Gustaf V. decorated five of the Chicago members.

Chas. S. Peterson, president of the club, was presented with the Order of the North Star, while Conductor Edgar A. Nelson, 441 Beacon street, Gustaf Holmquist, soloist, 1430 Artye street, John E. Hillberg, and Mr. Phillips were given the Order of Valhalla.

President Eckstrand of the Scandinavian foundation made the presentations. During the concert American Minister Morris sent his compliments from Chicago by a laurel wreath.

Conductor Nelson sailed from New York for Sweden with eighty members of the society on June 12.

Royal Reception Given.
The king also gave a reception to the Chicago visitors. Standing before the imperial throne, King Gustaf most dramatically welcomed and shook the hands of the members of the choral club and a few Swedish and Americans invited, including the representative of the King's Tanarus to Sweden. For a full hour there was a ceremony of singing, which the Chicagoans will never forget.

Gustaf is every inch a king, despite the plain black suit which he wears in court mourning. The king delivered an address expressing his pleasure and thanks.

"I feel that this visit will further the friendly relations between Sweden and America, which always are the most cordial."

President Peterson of the Choral club, thanking his majesty, said: "The Swedish-Americans of Chicago and the middle west bring to the king greetings to strengthen the friendship between the two countries, and also to show Americans the ancient culture and modern progressiveness of Sweden. The visit is made that all may show respect to their ancestors, and likewise to show the Swedish people we have not forgotten the land."

The king again shook the hands of Mr. Nelson, and Soloists Holmquist and Edna Swanson after the chorus had sung Conductor Nelson's greeting to Sweden.

The king turned to Miss Swanson and said: "I am very pleased with your good looks and excellent voice."

American Charge d'Affaires and Mrs. Wheeler received for the [Photo by Koehn's] club in the evening at Minister Morris' palace on Oak Hill.

American Flag Everywhere.
American flags have been unfurled everywhere for several days and Stockholm has had a holiday appearance. The star spangled banner is at the palace, parliament, city hall and everywhere else to greet the Chicagoans. The public program has been:

Friday, afternoon, reception by King Gustaf of Sweden; evening, grand concert.

Saturday, reception by Charge d'Affaires Wheeler of the American embassy.

Today, address by Premier Branting. This does not include numerous smaller functions.

The choral club's visit is regarded as a national event. Hundreds of thousands are turning out along the route of marches until the members fear getting played out by the strenuous receptions, banquets and concerts. But all is going well.

FIGHT FANS JAM BENTON HARBOR FOR TITLE FIGHT

BY RAY PEARSON.

Benton Harbor, Mich., July 4.—[Special.]—The twin lake cities were crisscrossed with humanity tonight. The boats and rail cars have been unloading fans all day long for the lightweight championship battle between Champion Benny Leonard and his challenger, Charley White, and it looks as if a considerable number will be forced to "carry the banner" unless numerous friendly residents of Benton Harbor or St. Joseph open the throttle wide on "friendliness" and "park" them.

Tonight it looks as if there would be about $40,000 worth of fans in Floyd Fitzsimmons' new arena. There is plenty of room for more, but a sellout is not anticipated. However, the gate tomorrow may prove surprising and reach a higher figure, for a lot of folks are expected to arrive here and take their chances at the gate instead of purchasing duets in advance.

Stream of Purchasers. All day long there was a constant stream of ticket purchasers at local headquarters and at the arena. Seats at all prices were rapidly disposed of. The Chicago sale has been most remarkable, for Al Bloom sold more than $5,000 worth of tickets, while Sam Wolfe's sale was reported at $12,000. Here the advance is about $13,000.

This does not include unpaid reservations. Benny Leonard is going to experience the highest day it ever had tomorrow, and that goes for St. Joe, too. The streets are packed with people tonight who are waiting. It seems this is a fight that interests lots of people, but doesn't make a good betting proposition, and the reason is that the great majority look for Leonard to score a decisive victory.

No White Money. Any one who looked for White money today needed a spyglass. It was mighty hard to find. A few small wagers were made with White on the short end of 3 to 1. To get out of the stuff about the fighters requires a couple of statements. Here they are:

BENNY LEONARD—I'm going out to win this fight just as quickly as I can. It is my opinion that my work tomorrow will last four or possibly five rounds. I'm going to knock out White just as quickly as I can. These fellows who seem to think that I am in danger of losing my chin on one of White's left hooks in the first round have another guess coming. I wouldn't be at all surprised if I didn't put a glove on me in the first round.

CHARLEY WHITE—This is my chance to win the world's championship, and I'm going to do my best to win it. There may be a surprise in this fight and some one is going to fall. I don't know who it will be, but I feel sure the fight will not go the limit.

Block to Training Quarters. It was a cool day today, and a lot of fans went to the training quarters to take a look at Leonard and White. But neither did more than show himself. They didn't put on the gloves, for both think they have reached the perfection in condition that is required. Leonard donned the fighting trunks minus the mitts, and went through a shadow boxing stunt for the crowd at Eastman Springs. White did the same thing.

In the morning Leonard did a few miles on the road, which was his most strenuous work all day. The six of confidence prevailing in the Leonard camp on the eve of the battle is surprising. Of course, it is natural for a champion to be confident, but one would think after visiting Eastman Springs that this business of tomorrow isn't any more serious than sitting down and eating a meal.

Benny Is Gaily Confident. Leonard smiles and talks like a fellow who has a pink tea engagement ahead of him. White wasn't like that at all today. He was serious, perhaps a bit more serious than is customary, but not lacking confidence in his ability to handle the job tomorrow. He thinks he's going to be the new champion tomorrow night, and if he fails it won't be because of lack of determination.

There is nothing that suggests friendliness between these two fellows who are going to try to knock each other's blocks off in the Benton Harbor arena. It seems that both, while perfectly willing to accept the ethics of the game, aren't going to do anything such as stalling, which would prolong the contest. It's a fight that is going to come to a close just as quickly as either can accomplish the job.

LEONARD PICKED FOR K. O. WIN OVER WHITE

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., July 4.—The winner of tomorrow's fight between Benny Leonard and Charley White should be Champ Leonard, and he should stop the challenger in four or possibly five rounds. That is the opinion of The Tribune's representative here to cover the battle. It looks as if there is no chance for the contest to go the limit of ten rounds. Leonard is in shape and so is White, and the champion declared today there is no necessity for his carrying his opponent along, which means he is going to try for a knockout right from the jump.

weighed just 136½ pounds. That's ready for a fight in which he does not have to do better than catch weights. Then here's White. Charley is down to a slight shade better than 135 pounds, which should satisfy any body that he is in shape. It might be said that White is in better condition than he has been for any fight.

Woods and Waters & Lark

NOTES BY THE WAY. HERE is good fishing right now on Grassy lake, and what is a great deal more interesting, there will be better fishing conditions from now on. The state fisheries department had an apron put on the dam at McKinstry, which will give Grassy lake quite a bit more water and, at the same time, preserve some of the best spawning beds in the Fox lake region. Without the apron the dam cut off the water to such an extent that these spawning beds dried up; now they will be at the proper level during the spawning period. Such action as this will produce as good fishing as a first class hatchery.

Little old Bangs lake at Waukegan has been coming through with some topnotch bass fishing recently, and so have Fish and Deep lake. Still, fishermen throughout northern Illinois have had good success, especially on silver bass and "black sunfish."

Anglers returning from Wisconsin, where the bass season opened Thursday, report poor luck in most cases. In the central and southern parts of the state, especially, the fishing was generally poor.

Trout fishing, as a whole, is not up to standard, and it begins to look as if the season is going to be disappointing in the middle western states. It is not due to lack of fish, but to unfavorable water conditions. We would consider this the best season of our experience if we had landed a big brown trout we had on the other day on the Pine in Wisconsin. However, he just walked off with our leader and left us gasping for air.

Muskie fishing in the north is so-so. Occasionally we get reports of a good sized one being landed, but the general complaint is that the only muskies that are a bit obliging are small ones. One angler fishing in the Eagle water took fourteen in two days' fishing, but not a one weighed over twelve pounds. We have similar reports from other sections.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERY.
By maintaining a rapid batting pace, the White Sox were able to make it three out of five by beating the St. Louis Browns in the final game of the series at Comiskey park yesterday. The count was 6 to 3, but it was not until the eighth inning, when Cieson's athletes pelted a couple of runs, that they felt at all safe.

As on the previous day, the Sox played the ball, making a total of thirteen blows, and they also displayed a sterling defense throughout. With the season practically half over, it began to look as if the Sox's chances to win a pennant depend upon their defensive strength, and if they can keep up the standard set in the last two games they will breeze home ahead.

Cicotte Good in Pinches.
Eddie Cicotte was on the slab, opposed by a youngster named Davis. The latter's first name must be "Dixie," as all of the Davis tribe in baseball are called "Dixie." Cicotte was touched for a dozen blows, which indicated he wasn't quite up to his old time form when he had the "sinner" to everything, but at the same time in the right places he was superb.

One of those tight places happened in the seventh, when, with two out, Gecson pelted a double and took third on Sister's infield single. The count at the time was 4 to 2 in favor of the Sox, and "Baby Doll" Jacobson was at bat. Eddie fanned the "Baby Doll" with a flourish.

A sparkling play by Hap Felsch prevented the Browns trying the count in the eighth, when Keneth Williams was on second, with two out, and a Mr. Collins, an aspiring youngster, hammered a red hot single over second. Felsch galloped in like a race horse, scooped the ball perfectly, and fired to the plate, and Schalk touched Williams on the tip of the right toe as he made a desperate slide for the plate.

Sox Hit Freely.
A sparkling play by Joe Jackson, Hap Felsch, Buck Weaver, and Eddie Collins, was largely responsible for the victory. General Joe pelted his way through the afternoon with a perfect average for four singles and a walk in five trips to the plate. One of the hits was a bit scratchy, but it counted just the same.

Eddie Collins lined a three bagger to the wall in front center in the first that led to the first tally. Felsch drove a triple to left in the third that sent in two runs. A single and a sacrifice fly by Weaver aided in the scoring, and a freak bunt past third base by Schalk sent in one tally. In the eighth four bases on balls, with one single and one sacrifice, clinched the contest.

NOTES OF THE SOX
Can you remember away back when the Sox at the Fourth of July games whipped out their revolvers and fired a cylinder full of shots when the first base hit of the game was made.

A number of Elks were present. One squad from San Antonio and another from Florida besides scattered ones from all parts of the country were there.

The Declaration of Independence will be celebrated at Comiskey park today with a morning and an afternoon game between the Sox and the Cleveland Indians. Morning game at 12:15; afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Ken Williams got a lucky hit in the eighth because a soft roller straight to Risberg struck a pebble and hit Swede in the neck.

Manager Mitchell demanded the arrest of the thrower, and the Cubs threatened to go into the stand in a body after him if the police did not act. The thrower finally was located and taken to the club's office by a police man, where he confessed he had lost his head.

Judging by the way the Cubs batted Jesus Haines, they would not have damaged the bottle thrower seriously if they had got hold of him. They peppered the Cardinal twirler for sixteen hits without doing much damage, as they could rely on only six runs at the plate. This shows decided lack of the essential punch.

The Cards rapped four Cub pitchers for thirteen mistakes, grouped so successfully that they won handsily, with the aid of a mistake by Umpire Rigler, who lost a play at the plate entirely in the fifth. This gave the Cards one run.

Hornby Starts Attack.
Hornby led the second inning attack on Vaughn with a single. McHenry and Schults took three runs with none out. Martin took the slab job after the pop bottle attack had been quelled, and a miff by O'Farrell let in a fourth run. That bunch proved too many.

Martin gave way to a pinch hitter in the seventh and Gaw started the Lane half, but was yanked after a base on balls and a single. Carter stopped the Cards flat.

MISS ALICE GENTLE.
Alice Gentle Makes First Appearance of Season at Ravinia.

Three scenes from "Aida" were given at Ravinia last night to a large and appreciative audience. Miss Florence Easton was especially effective in the title role, singing with taste and artistry which rapidly gained her a great following here. Her voice was exquisitely handled, and her acting left nothing to be desired.

Miss Alice Gentle made her first appearance this year as Amneris, and she brought to the part all the regal dignity, the impassioned rhapsody that the role demands. Her voice has richened since last year and the audience was generous in its appreciation of it and her acting. She was laboring with a heavy cold, but it was hardly apparent in her singing.

Morgan Kingston as Rameses was excellent. He created a stir with his singing of the "Celeste Aida." He always can be depended upon to add something fresh to any role.

The ensemble work was good, the chorus showing much training and possessing voices of more than ordinary brilliancy. Zerkow as Amnaro, D'Angelo as Ramfis, and Ananian as the king acquitted themselves with much credit, though a trifle stiff.

Saturday night was thoroughly enjoyable. "The Barber of Seville," with Soffici, Scobier, Charles Hackett, Leon Rothier, Miss Pichon, and Ananian, made up a performance that for winning the good will of the audience would be hard to excel.

Miss Alice Gentle's performance of the "Indispensable" Figure, singing a part that is the joy or despair of baritone in a manner highly praiseworthy. Messrs. Hackett, Rothier, and Ananian made their roles fit them as a glove. The first named has become famous for his interpretation of the part of the Count Almaviva, and this performance could not but add to his reputation as an artist of great ability.

Bowen High school was declared winner of the High School Civic Industrial association shield offered for the greatest efforts for school and community betterment. This was announced last night. School organization, cleanliness, campfire, educational excursions were the accomplishments figuring in the award. McKinley High took second and Austin third in the association, which includes twenty-two schools.

Miss Alice Gentle Makes Her First 1926 Ravinia Appearance

BY CHARLES H. GABRIEL JR.

Three scenes from "Aida" were given at Ravinia last night to a large and appreciative audience. Miss Florence Easton was especially effective in the title role, singing with taste and artistry which rapidly gained her a great following here. Her voice was exquisitely handled, and her acting left nothing to be desired.

Miss Alice Gentle made her first appearance this year as Amneris, and she brought to the part all the regal dignity, the impassioned rhapsody that the role demands. Her voice has richened since last year and the audience was generous in its appreciation of it and her acting. She was laboring with a heavy cold, but it was hardly apparent in her singing.

Hindu Preacher Tells of Vision and Conversion

Sadhu Sunder Singh, famous East Indian Christian evangelist, spoke before the students of Moody Bible institute yesterday morning. He is in this country en route to Australia, where he will minister for a while before returning to India.

"I was not only a Hindu, but I was an enemy of Christians," said Mr. Singh in his address. "I used to burn the Bible. On Dec. 18, 1904, I poured oil over a Bible and set it on fire because I thought that Christianity was a false religion."

"The next day I was so restless and so dissatisfied that I determined to commit suicide. Finally I turned to prayer, and in a vision I saw the Saviour. I became His follower from that hour, although it cost me untold suffering at the hands of Hindu officials, and the enmity of my own family."

They put me in stocks in solitary confinement. Leeches were put on me, but still I preached to those who could hear my voice. Finally they let me out. They could not understand how my secret joy in the knowledge of salvation through the Saviour could make me overcome pain and suffering. Christ's presence turned the prison into heaven for me.

"What we need in Christianity is not preaching—it is witnessing," he said. "Anyone can preach, but it takes one who is really a Christian, and who has sacrificed something for his faith to witness to the truth he has found."

GRAN TRADERS MORE BEARISH AS PRICES DROP

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

A decided change came over the corn, oats and provision markets last week. Liquidation and short selling caused a demoralization and on Friday there was a small panic in the provision trade, with a drop of 20 a pound in lard within a few minutes, and $3.30 a barrel in pork.

The situation in grains, and, in fact, in all commodities, has become more bearish. It is difficult to tell whether the money market is the same, or, in other words, a stiff money market, with interest rates 7 to 8 per cent and higher, is against the grain market, especially when bankers are rationing loans.

Under such conditions, with good stocks of old grain in the country, which cannot be moved as fast as desirable, owing to inactivity in the market, and the fact that there is nothing for traders who are friendly to the buying side to get enthusiastically bullish over, or to induce large speculative buying.

The feeling is radically bearish on grains in certain quarters, possibly too much so, and the market is regarded as likely to become frequently overcast on the decline, and sharp bulges result.

Corn Market Functioning.

Changed conditions have resulted in making a more healthy situation in the corn trade by permitting the market to come nearer to functioning better than at any time in two years. This has been brought about by increased receipts, and a liberal movement is expected for a week or more, the trade looking for about 200 cars a day. Primary receipts last week decreased 454,000 bu., although the largest at this time in eight years.

The only unfavorable feature in the corn crop estimate is its lateness, making it susceptible to damage during the hot spells that usually come in the south-west the first half of July.

Low grades of corn have declined and are off about 30c from the high point of the previous week, while the contact grades declined 12c. July dropped 15c from the high point of the week, and the 10c and 12c and December 8c, with the close well toward the inside, with losses of 12c on July, 6c on September, and 4c on December. July closed at 11.64 1/2; September, 11.63 1/2; October, 11.62 1/2; November, 11.61 1/2; December, 11.60 1/2; and No. 3 mixed and yellow at 11.58, the latter being off 15c for the week. Prices for the week follow:

Wheat Estimates Raised.

Wheat estimates are being raised. Estimates on the wheat crop are for 1,120,000,000 to 1,140,000,000 bu. Spring wheat is around 290,000,000 bu. by one report, which raised the condition slightly, while another lowered it 6 points the last week. Indications are for more than 800,000,000 bu., which, with a carry over of 150,000,000 to 170,000,000 bu., will furnish all the wheat necessary for consumption and to be exported. Estimates on the corn crop range from 2,570,000,000 to 2,600,000,000 bu., with acreage about the same as last week, but with a carry over of 100,000,000 bu., which was 100,000,000 bu. last week. Estimates on oats range from 1,275,000,000 to 1,375,000,000 bu., against 1,275,000,000 to 1,375,000,000 bu. last week.

Legislation in Oats.

July oats dropped from 11.05 1/2 to 86c last week, while September broke to 70c 1/2, and December 67c, touching 79c. Crop reports are less favorable, the oats heading short in many of the best sections.

July oats closed Saturday at the lowest of the week, 86c 1/2, off 5 1/2c for the week. September, 86c 1/2, off 4 1/2c, and December, 79c 1/2, off 5 1/2c. The government report is due July 8.

Lard Stocks Huge.

Lard stocks at western packing points increased 13,715 lbs. the last week, compared with 7,423,000 lbs. the last year, total being 128,153,000 lbs. of which more than 98,000,000 lbs. were at Chicago. Last year total stock was 104,000,000 lbs. Stocks of meats of 285,560,000 lbs. increased 10,348,000 lbs. the last week, against 3,718,000 lbs. the last year. Present stocks are 285,560,000 lbs. or 21,000,000 lbs. less than last year.

As compared with a year ago, lard is $20.40 to 25c lower, lard is off $15.00 to 16.00, and short ribs 10c to 11c. The closing prices, as compared with a week ago, show losses on pork of 15c to 16c, lard 14c to 15c, and short ribs 10c to 11c.
